BRIEF CRITERIA ANALYSIS

Gates meets all three primary criteria. Given the close proximity, low enrollment, and the declining school-age population of San Antonio’s East Side, King and Gates are likely partners for a school consolidation. Consolidating Gates into King makes the most sense from a facilities standpoint, as King is on a plot of land that allows for greater expansion given its location next to Martin Luther King Park.

BENEFITS OF RIGHTSIZING

Rightsizing will lead to increased enrollment and additional resources. How those resources are used will be decided by the school’s principal, staff and Campus Advisory Council. Rightsizing decisions will lead to early childhood services in every elementary school, fewer split grade levels or teaching assignments, more courses or full-time specialty teachers (art, music, AVID, etc), increased staff collaboration, additional student services (mental health, social work, academic intervention, etc), more robust dual language programs, greater access to extracurriculars, and increases to campus budgets for positions like library services, Family and Community Engagement Specialists, and instructional coaches.

With Gates students attending ML King at Carroll and ML King, more students and families will gain access to:

- Enhanced mental health and social services ;
- On-campus ALE, BSC, and ECSE instruction for students needing specialized programming;
- On-site PK-8 dual language programming at MLK;
- Full-time teachers for elementary music, elementary art, and middle school art;
- Access to dance instruction; and
- A reduction or elimination in the number of split classrooms.
